To Whom It May Concern;

I am responding to the proposal to change the decency laws for television. It is already very difficult to be able to watch programming that is not filled with some sort of profanity and partial nudity now. We now have to turn off the television programs now because it is filled with sex and suggestive behavior. I do not want my grandchildren to be exposed to such programming. I am totally against you opening up programming to such things.

Respectfully,

Debra Miller
